THE ROLE

A love and passion for lifestyle-related topics like parenting, money, travel, and relationships is an absolute MUST! We want to be inspired by your tips and product recommendations and encourage you to share a different, but still on-brand, point of view. You love sharing your special finds with other women. You are a teacher at heart.

Creating content is your superpower! The Lifestyle Contributor will come up with lifestyle-focused content ideas... keeping the brand and target demo of women over 40 in mind.

You will pitch your ideas to our Creative Director for approval and then plan to write two to four each month, formatting each post using the brand-approved method in WordPress.

In each of your posts, you will carefully consider the demo, title, imagery, SEO, meta data, sales, product selections, entertainment value, and usefulness of tips.

You will create affiliate links and widgets to correspond with your post using LTK (formerly RewardStyle) and Amazon Affiliates.

You will introduce lifestyle series ideas and execute those ideas.

Research is a key component of any amazing content, and we expect you to be able to do some digging online if needed.

You will work as autonomously as possible, reporting to our Creative Director and Copy Editor as needed.

Attendance during our monthly writers meeting is a must. That's the only scheduling requirement.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT FROM US

We are stacking a team of professional, competent, and highly engaging leaders whose goal is to impact the lives of women. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Note: You will be required to sign a non-compete stating you will not write for other influencers in competing space. We would prefer a writer who does not have their own blog-based business.

We will share the name of the company, along with next steps.
